

Active Parenting Now

Leader Training Workshop
with Dr. Michael Popkin

October 3 - 5, 2010

Designed for pastors, church educators, youth ministers, school teachers, social workers, parents, and others concerned about effective family interaction, this workshop will prepare participants to lead both the Active Parenting Now and Active Parenting of Teens video-based parenting education programs. Participants will receive 14 hours of continuing education credit from NBCC (National Board of Certified Counselors) and, upon completion of their first course with parents, be qualified for certification from Active Parenting in both programs.

Workshop Leaders:

Michael H. Popkin, Ph.D., founded Active Parenting Publishers in 1983. Soon after, he introduced the first video-based parenting education program, Active Parenting. Recently revised, Active Parenting Now has helped millions of parents develop cooperation, responsibility and courage in their children. Since then Dr. Popkin has written and produced more than a dozen video and discussion programs. For more information about the programs, training, and Dr. Popkin, go to www.activeparenting.com.

Bruce & Carolyn Gillette are the grateful parents of John, Catherine and Sarah and are the co-pastors of the Limestone Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, Delaware. They wrote the revised edition of Active Parenting Now for the Faith Community: A Biblical and Theological Guide with Freda A. Gardner (church guide for Active Parenting Now video series) the study/action guide for the 216th (2004) General Assembly report Transforming Families. The Gillettes have taught parenting classes annually for over twenty years, led family ministries workshops and been conference keynote speakers.

Cost $350

The cost of the two-day training is $350 and includes lodging (double-occupancy in one of our lodges), meals, participants workbook, and two Parent Guides, plus a coupon good for 20% off the price of each of the two curriculums being taught.
